SUMMARY

In the country there is no decreed mandatory quarantine. The country has some tools that allow temporary coverage of specific expenses at the salary cost, and in the case of smaller companies, payments tax and social security has been deferred. The market is depressed but we do not have an estimate at the moment. Slowly, activities are being resumed in all areas, but the health emergency still persists. At the moment we can say that the COVID cases are not drastically increased and that is why the government is slowly continuing to promote the opening of activities. No specific protocols have been developed in the industry. There is a protocol for construction and they are currently being prepared for commerce.
